About this property

Completed in 1901 with the original building designed in the Jacobean revival style by Arts and Craft architect Walter Ernest Tower. Slaugham Manor was originally built as a private home & was later converted to a hotel. The next chapter in its life, spanning some 40 years, sees the building showcase conferences, training facilities and accommodation for Sussex Police.

The Manor was then acquired by Martin Homes who throughout the renovation have paid great attention to the original architectural features of the house and many of these have been retained and copied in the conversion. Examples being distinctive battlement rainwater hoppers to the striking Elizabethan style chimney stacks and imposing stone lions which keep watch over the front entrance.

Combined with restored mullioned windows, a magnificent hallway and staircase and the application of marble and granite in abundance the apartments and high specification invigorate and enhance the buildings stately character. The 9 new apartments within the Manor have been individually designed to provide maximum space, as well as affording every modern convenience of a contemporary home. Each has a generously proportioned open plan layout to the principal living areas, providing for light and airy entertaining areas.

Local Information

One of the most desirable features of Slaugham Manor is its ease of connection to the best that the South East of England has to offer, whilst being tucked away in its own rural oasis at the foot of the High Weald, designated an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty. Quiet country lanes provide quick access to villages such as Staplefield and Cuckfield, and nearby A roads, including the A23, make visiting larger towns and cities, such as Horsham, Haywards Heath and the coastal resort of Brighton, a breeze. Further afield, central London can be reached by train from Haywards Heath in approximately 45 minutes and Gatwick Airport is only a short journey away for those overseas journeys.
